

The program of my diploma is a house for whom I do not know. There are two books and in them there are several houses. In the book other houses there are many houses. In the book first house last house there are two houses. It's my final attempt at making a house for whom I do not know, and it is what I consider to be the main book of the diploma.

One could also read the program of this project as 'staying in the longing for whom I do not know that I am making a house for'. I know I read it in that way.
